UNO Progress Delayed

BIG 5 UNABLE TO AGREE ON UNO SECRETARY

Assembly Session To Adopt Atomic Commission Today Is Cancelled

Russians Believed Holding Out For European For Important Post

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Big five delegates to the United Nations assembly, meeting for the first time with Andrei Y. Vishinsky of Russia, were unable to agree today on a candidate for secretary general of the organization.

A UNO general assembly meeting scheduled for 3 p.m. to adopt the Moscow resolution to establish an atomic energy commission was cancelled unexpectedly.

The big five meeting was called to exchange views with Vishinsky, Soviet vice foreign commissar and head of the Russian delegation to the UNO, on various proposed candidates for secretary general.

Authoritative sources revealed after the meeting that no agreement was reached.

Despite failure of the big five to settle on a candidate, all 11 member nations of the security council met again informally to try to end the deadlock.

Sources close to the big five believed that the Russians were holding out for an eastern European, or at least a European for the secretary generalship, in contrast with the apparent willingness of the United States and Britain to settle for Lester B. Pearson of Canada.

Agreement on a secretary general is necessary before the next meeting of the security council, as it is the pending item on the agenda.

The UNO charter provides that the council nominate the secretary general, but the big five must concur. The assembly then elects him. To avoid a situation in which one of the big five might feel forced to exercise the veto, informal meetings were being held in an effort to reach an agreement in advance.

The big five meeting was held in the Claridge hotel suite of secretary of State James F. Byrnes. British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, Jean Paul Boncour of France and Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo of China attended.

In addition to Pearson, foreign ministers Trygve Lie of Norway, Jan Masaryk of Czechoslovakia and E. N. Van Kleeffens of Holland were the most prominently mentioned possibilities for the secretary generalship.

Vishinsky, who arrived from Moscow yesterday, conferred with Foreign Secretary Bevin today before meeting other big five members. Russia has protested strongly to the security council about British policy in Greece and Indonesia.

The big five meeting was expected to discuss procedure for handling the Russian complaint against Britain, and to seek agreement.

Defenses Guaranteed In Pact

U. S. Reserves Right To Bar Planes From Bases When Conditions Warrant

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The proposed Anglo-American agreement to open U. S.-developed hemisphere bases to world airlines contains guarantees against any interference with American defense requirements, it was learned today.

The agreement, framed at the Bermuda civil aviation conference, is now under study at the war, navy and state departments. It was flown here by Vice Adm. Forrest Sherman, Navy adviser to the U. S. delegation.

As now written, the accord provides that international airlines of countries other than America and Britain also can obtain landing rights at the 99-year leased bases. But U. S. military authorities retain the right to shut out any commercial carriers whenever military conditions warrant.

It was learned that the extent to which the bases will be open to commercial traffic is still in doubt despite the agreement in principle to let in civil aircraft.

Thus far it is agreed only that commercial airlines have the right to fly over the bases and land to refuel and repair, with the exception.

SENATE GROUP TO PROBE NAZIS

Party's Index File Of Members In Americas Due In U. S. Soon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The Nazi party's card index file of 80,000 members in this country and South America soon will be turned over to the senate's Kilgore committee.

The committee, which is investigating U. S. foreign economic policy, also plans to look into reported infiltrations of German persons and assets into South America since V-E day.

Brig. Gen. Donald P. Booth, special assistant to the undersecretary of war, said the first 2,000 names on the Nazi list would arrive here February 1. Additional names will arrive every two weeks until May.

The list was captured in Frankfurt and is being studied by a special four-power military commission in Berlin. The names are being photographed and microfilmed for shipment.

A committee spokesman said the list would include prominent persons in New York City, Chicago and Milwaukee who had been active in German-American affairs.

The spokesman doubted that the names would be made public immediately. The federal bureau of

OVERSEAS MAIL MAY BE INSURED AFTER FEB. 1

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Mail to soldiers overseas can be registered and insured starting February 1 but unsolicited parcels still will be banned.

The war department said the improved mail service stemmed from the fact that fewer letters now are being mailed and combat losses of mail have stopped.

Overseas mail has dropped in almost direct ratio to the return of men to this country. Approximately 96,473,250 letters were handled for soldiers overseas in September as compared with 60,866,245 in December. Another substantial drop is anticipated for January.

Stabilization Director Says Payments Will Be Made At Least Until June 30

FEARS FOOD COST RISE

Collet Admits De-Subsidized Foods Have Not Gone Up But Fears Future

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The government was committed today to continue using subsidies at least until Summer in its battle against higher food costs.

Conceding that anticipated price declines in de-subsidized foods had not materialized, Stabilization Director John C. Collet announced that most of the government's remaining subsidy program would be retained until June 30.

He said specifically that the pork and flour subsidies, scheduled to end in March, would be continued through the June 30 date.

Subsidies also will be continued until June 30 on live cattle, sheep, lambs, beef and all dairy products except butter and cheese. Subsidies already have been lifted on these two products.

Under subsidy programs, producers are paid a portion of their production costs by the government instead of passing the increase on to the consumer.

Subsidies also have been ended on canned fruit juices, vegetable shortening, and peanut butter. There has been no decision as to when subsidies will be taken off canned and frozen vegetables, dry edible beans, prunes and raisins.

The move to retain most of the subsidy program followed President Truman's recommendation to congress Monday that subsidies be continued even beyond June 30 to safeguard the nation against further food price increases.

Otherwise, he said, food prices were certain to increase July 1—the day after subsidies are taken off. Prices of most products from

OPA TO LIFT PRICE CONTROL ON MOST TOYS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—OPA will suspend price control on most toys and a score of additional minor food items on January 28, it was announced today.

The small number of toys which will remain under price ceilings include tricycles, small automobiles which a child can drive, and wagons longer than 18 inches. Controls will remain on these items, OPA said, until rubber and metal become more plentiful.

The controls are being lifted on the recommendation of the toy industry. This time of year is a period of "low demand" for toys, so that any resulting price increases will not affect the cost of living.

By the time toys are in greater demand—during the Christmas shopping season—OPA expects metal toys to be on the market in large enough numbers to lower prices.

Food items which will be freed on price control on January 28 include:

Canned sweet potatoes; canned parsnips; canned onions except pickled onions; canned sauerkraut; canned turnips; canned sauerkraut; canned beet juice; canned fresh peppers; canned cabbage; canned Irish potatoes except french fried; shoe string; or jellies.

Fresh hothouse lettuce; ice cream sandwich wafers and waffles; imported dehydrated banana flakes; imported calf's foot jelly; imported and domestic canned eels; frozen clams, frozen oysters.

Also being exempted from price control are imported snuff, cigar cuttings and clippings. In addition, OPA is extending the present suspension of price ceilings on fresh and frozen canned crabmeat until March 30, and indefinitely suspending controls on vegetable seeds.

191,100 Men To Get Navy Discharges

Two-Thirds Of Peak Naval Strength Out Of Service By Next April

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The Navy estimated today that 191,100 additional officers and enlisted personnel will become eligible for discharge under new point reductions effective March 15 and April 2.

The point cuts were announced last night by Vice Adm. Louis E. Denfeld, chief of the Navy personnel. They do not affect the Marine Corps or Coast Guard.

Denfeld said the new point scores would mean that the Navy by April will have discharged two-thirds of its peak strength of approximately 3,000,000 men and women.

The March 15 point reductions chiefly will affect male commiss-

FRENCH LEADER STILL UNNAMED

Selection Of Gouin Delayed While Parties Continue Sharp Bargaining

PARIS, Jan. 23.—The scheduled election of Felix Gouin as president of France was delayed today by a new round of sharp bargaining among the three major parties which had agreed on him as a compromise candidate.

The constituent assembly, which will elect the new president to succeed Gen. Charles De Gaulle, met for five minutes and adjourned without setting a time for meeting again.

The delay appeared to have been prompted by a desire on the part of the Communists, Socialists and Popular Republicans to dicker further on undisclosed issues.

Andre Mercier, Communist, took Gouin's place as chairman of the assembly at the afternoon session. As soon as it opened, Francois De Menthon, Popular Republican and Chief French prosecutor at Nuremberg, proposed an adjournment.

Maurice Violette, Socialist, protested. He said the people would not be able to understand if the assembly continued to play politics and demanded a definite decision by tonight. De Menthon's motion was put to a vote and carried by a show of hands.

The big three party leaders met this morning and afternoon. The Popular Republicans were reported demanding certain key cabinet seats as well as assurances on the new government's program.

A split was reported to have

B-17 HUNTING WORST WEATHER ON LONG TRIP

WRIGHT FIELD, O., Jan. 23.—A specially-equipped B-17 left Miami, Fla., last week searching for the worst weather in the world to test airborne radio equipment, officials disclosed here today.

The first leg of the two-month trip, which is being made for the electronic subdivision of the air technical service command, will take the experts to remote areas of Brazil and Central Africa.

Capt. E. L. Cleveland, officer in charge of the project, said the purpose of the flight is "to seek out the worst thunderstorms and electrical disturbances to be found in various parts of the world."

Cameras will be used to make a film record of the readings of instruments installed in the Fortress to measure the electrical properties of storms, he said.

The film then will be used by Wright Field engineers to set up similar artificial static conditions for tests and development of new static-elimination devices.

ATSC officials said other tests probably would be made over the "Hump" between India and China, in New Guinea, off the coast of Japan and in the vicinity of various Pacific islands.

WHERE STEEL PRODUCTION IS HIT BY STRIKES

SHADED AREAS ON THE MAP show where steel plants are located across the nation. The black areas indicate the four States which produce about 72 per cent of the estimated total production of 95,505,280 tons. Pittsburgh is the "steel strike capital," and in this area some 350,000 workers are involved, whereas Washington has but two plants. The figures below show the tonnage by States according to recent figures.

Substitute Fact Finding Bill Expected To Reach House Floor Late Today

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—A move was underway in the house today to strengthen the labor committee's watered-down version of President Truman's fact-finding bill.

Supporters of strong anti-strike legislation were reported working on a comprehensive substitute which they hoped to press when the committee bill reaches the floor.

The substitute will be introduced in the house shortly, possibly late today. It was learned that its central theme probably would be "mutuality of contract responsibility"—making unions and employers equally responsible under the law to live up to contracts.

Some proponents of more stringent labor laws have long demanded statutory penalties against unions which fail to live up to no-strike provisions in their contracts.

The labor committee paved the way for floor action on new labor legislation yesterday when it approved a bill to give the President authority to set up fact-finding boards in serious labor disputes. Vote on the measure was 10 to 8.

The committee measure, however, would not empower the

YOUNG FATHER HAS TROUBLES BUT SURVIVES

WALPOLE, Mass., Jan. 23.—Chester Orlando, former GI, calmed down today from the excitement of becoming a father.

A maternity hospital awakened Orlando to tell him he was a father of the three-pound baby for which an incubator had to be brought from Boston.

Orlando set off by automobile. A few miles from Boston his car collided with a truck, injuring his leg. He limped to a telephone, summoned a police ambulance which rushed him to Boston, then back to Norwood with the incubator.

He returned home. The kitchen range had become overheated and set fire to the house. The fire was extinguished. Orlando finally got to sleep.

"We haven't lost a father yet," a hospital attendant said, crossing her fingers.

COLD WEATHER EXPECTED TO CONTINUE HERE

Colder weather and more cloudy skies followed by light snow is predicted for Circleville Thursday.

The mercury rose a little Wednesday with a low of 8 being recorded early in the morning, a 6 degree rise over the low of 2 above recorded Tuesday.

At noon Wednesday, with the sun shining brilliantly, the temperature was 22, 12 degrees higher than at the same time Tuesday. High temperature Wednesday was a very low 18. On the same day last year, the high was 35 and the low, 26.

1,500 Workers Plan Walkout; Both Sides Seek Favor In Steel Dispute

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The White House announced today that the government will seize closed meat packing plants on Saturday.

The agriculture department will operate the plants. The war department will assist in the seizure if necessary.

By United Press
The federal government moved to seize the nation's strikebound meat plants today in the hopes of ending one of the most pressing of a series of industrial disputes idling upwards of 1,786,000 workers.

Officials of the AFL union involved in the eight-day strike announced they would return to work under a government seizure order. Leaders of the CIO packinghouse workers did not commit themselves immediately.

Elsewhere in the troubled reconstruction picture:

1. There was no move to renew negotiations in the crucial strike of 750,000 CIO steelworkers, now in its third day.

2. Government-sponsored mediation conferences were scheduled tomorrow in New York with General Electric and Westinghouse officials and representatives of 200,000 striking CIO electrical workers.

3. Fifteen hundred members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Train-men were slated to strike tonight on the Indiana Harbor Belt railroad and Chicago Junction railway, vital freight links between the east and west coasts.

4. The strike of 175,000 auto workers against the General Motors Corp. entered its 10th week with preparations to halt work on GM orders by 7,000 tool and die makers in the Detroit area.

Both parties bid for public sympathy.

BRITISH BLOCK AGREEMENT AT AVIATION MEET

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Jan. 23.—A split within the American delegation over concessions to Britain was holding up discussions at the Anglo-American civil aviation conference today.

It was obvious that the Americans would have to make some concessions in their original demands for complete freedom of international aviation in order to reach an agreement with the British.

Although an American delegate said the conference was going as well as had been expected, it was apparent that the American delegation was split within itself on just how far it should go in meeting British demands.

One authoritative source said the British would insist that the Americans make some concession on either passenger fares, the number of weekly transatlantic flights or the fifth freedom, which is the right of air lines of one country to carry passengers between two other countries.

If the United States refuses to budge from a policy of "free enterprise" with no regulation of international aviation, it was considered likely that Britain would withdraw from the negotiations and establish barriers against American concerns. Other European countries might follow the British on the grounds that powerful American lines were trying to push aside all opposition with lower fares and more flights.

NAM PROPOSES PEACE PROGRAM

Four-Point Plan To Prevent Extended Labor Disputes Is Announced

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The National Association of Manufacturers offered today a four-point program for industrial peace, with both management and labor guaranteed legal equality.

The four points were laid down in a pamphlet released by Ira Mosher, president of the N. A. M. They were described as "the first comprehensive management program in history designed to establish a national labor policy in the public interest."

The four points were a summary of the recommendations management conference in Washington last month.

They were:

1. Both parties to give the governor of the state in which the dispute is located 10 days notice before a strike or lockout.

2. The governor should be empowered to arrange for a fact-finding panel in cases where a strike or lockout would constitute a public emergency or endanger health.

3. The President should be empowered to name a fact-finding panel in cases where a national emergency is involved.

4. Fact-finding panels should within 30 days hear both sides through their own witnesses and make public the facts without recommendation. Both sides would be obligated to maintain the status quo until 10 days after the panel's report was made public.

The report also urged the reorganization of the U. S. conciliation service "to the end that it can be established as an effective, efficient and completely impartial agency within the department of labor."

NEW VIOLENCE IS THREATENED BY TERRORISTS

JERUSALEM, Jan. 23.—The Jewish terrorist organization, Irgun Zvai Leumi, threatened new violence today in notices posted at Tel Aviv.

The notices said any British investigation into the deaths of two Irgun deportees who were killed in a concentration camp in Eritrea would be "worthless," adding that "the Jewish underground will take its decision" unless the Red Cross investigated the deaths.

Irgun admitted in the notices that it was responsible for the violence in Jerusalem last Saturday, claiming "the enemy suffered heavy losses." All except nine of more than a thousand Jews detained in the investigation of Saturday's violence were released yesterday.

pathy in the gigantic steel strike which already had forced thousands of additional workers off their jobs.

CIO President Philip Murray met with his wage policy committee to push a campaign to amend tax laws under which he said the steel industry alone could collect $149,000,000 without operating a single day this year.

Benjamin F. Fairless, U. S. steel president, announced he would present the industry side of the strike in a coast-to-coast radio broadcast tonight.

Meanwhile, effects of the strike were being felt in allied industries, dependent on steel for continued operations. More than 100,000 office workers in strikebound steel mills were laid off their jobs. Seven "captive" coal mines in Alabama and Pennsylvania were shut down, idling 6,100 miners. Approximately 6,000 railroad and barge workers were laid off.

In Akron, O., world rubber capital, processors prepared to cut down on tire production. The industry was short of bead wire—essential for tire carcasses.

The decision to take over the meat industry sprang from a nationwide meat shortage, approaching famine proportions in some areas. The seizure order was prepared under the President's unexpired war powers.

President Truman's fact-finding board in the dispute met in Chicago yesterday to hear preliminary arguments from the big four packers—Swift, Armour, Wilson and Cudahy—and representatives of nearly 300,000 AFL and CIO strikers.

Threat of a nationwide rail strike within the next month loomed with the report that some 1,000,000 members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers would vote whether to strike to enforce long-standing wage and operating demands.

A work stoppage in still another basic industry cropped up in New England, one of the nation's two biggest textile centers. An estimated 26,000 members of the United Textile Workers (CIO) were scheduled to strike in 63 mills on or about Feb. 1 in support of demands for a 15-cent hourly wage increase.

TWO DIRECTORS, OFFICERS NAMED FOR CEMETERY

Two directors were re-elected and officers chosen at the annual meeting of the stockholders of Forest cemetery held Tuesday in the court house.

Directors re-elected to three-year terms were H. M. Crites and Robert L. Brehrer.

At the reorganization meeting, H. M. Crites was named president; Mr. Brehrer, vice president; E. O. Crites, secretary and superintendent; Mary Ebert, treasurer.

Directors besides Mr. Crites and Mr. Brehrer are E. S. Neuding, George Grand-Girard, Arthur Wilder, Guy Culp and C. A. Leist.

Forest cemetery was dedicated July 30, 1937. Since that time 19,244 burials have been made. During 1945 124 burials were made in the cemetery.

CLOTHING TO BE COLLECTED IN COUNTY FRIDAY

Friday is pick-up day for the Victory Clothing Collection in rural areas of Pickaway county. Trucks will call at all school and church collection centers. Donors should have the clothing at the schools ready for the trucks.

Collection of clothes in Circleville in a house-to-house canvass by the Boy Scouts was in progress Wednesday afternoon. Persons who were missed or who didn't have their old clothing ready are asked to bring it to the Armory or the fire station by January 31.

All old clothing collected will be packed in boxes and shipped out destined for a trip to war-stricken overseas nations and for relief of suffering of the half clothed people of war-torn allied nations.

RESIGNATION OF C & O PRESIDENT IS SURPRISE

CLEVELAND, Jan. 23.—The resignation of Carl E. Newton as president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway company, effective April 23, came as a surprise, a company spokesman said today.

The spokesman said he had no idea of who would be selected to succeed Newton when the board of directors meets April 23.

Point scores previously announced for WAVE personnel and navy nurses, effective March 2, will not change March 15. Point scores for WAVE officers and enlisted women will be lowered respectively to 26 and 21 points April 2.

Navy Nurse point scores will be reduced to 26 in April. Male doctor's points will be lowered to 28 points March 15 and 47 points April 2.

Point scores for naval aviators above the rank of ensign will be dropped from 26, effective March 2, to 25 on March 15 and 24 on April 2. No change was made in the 20 point score for aviators with the rank of ensign.

Collet said congress had been asked for authority to transfer money from other subsidy programs to continue the pork subsidy. The present price rollback of $1.30 per live hundredweight was to have ended March 31. That would have meant a retail price increase on pork of 4 cents a pound.

The current flour subsidy will be replaced with a new program when it expires March 1. It will affect all flour ground between March 1 and June 30 and sold under present ceilings.

BOARD FAVORS STATE BUYING ARMY HOSPITAL

COLUMBUS, Jan. 23.—State purchase of the army's Fletcher general hospital at Cambridge was recommended today by the mental hospitals committee of the post war program commission.

The committee inspected the hospital yesterday shortly after an announcement in Washington that the veterans administration had declared the hospital surplus.

There was no evidence in Cambridge of any opposition to the state taking over the hospital. The committee was greeted by a group of Cambridge citizens which promised the cooperation of the community.

Frazier Reams, state welfare director and committee member, said he hoped the state could buy the hospital and that there would be no gap between federal and state occupancy.

Dr. Frank F. Tallman, state commissioner of mental hygiene, estimated the hospital would accommodate up to 4,000 mental patients.

Reams said that the acquisition of Fletcher will relieve the pressure on other state hospitals. The state has proposed using the hospital for mental cases.

The money for the purchase of Fletcher will have to be provided by the legislature in special session.

Gov. Lausche said today he had called a meeting here Jan. 29 of Cambridge officials and veterans authorities to discuss use of the hospital.

2 CANTON MEN SERIOUSLY HURT IN 3-C CRASH

Two Canton men were seriously injured Tuesday at 5 p.m. when the car in which they were passengers hit a slippery spot on the 3-C highway in Pickaway county and went off the road.

The accident occurred two miles north of Mt. Sterling. Highway patrolmen said that the car went off the road and turned over and over.

The two seriously injured—Robert Sisson, who suffered severe leg lacerations, and Clarence Devore, who suffered head and chest injuries—were reported in "fair" condition at Mt. Carmel hospital. The driver, Warren Kifer, of Canton, was uninjured but a fourth passenger, also of Canton, was injured slightly.

ment on a candidate for the post of UNO secretary general.

Delay in reaching an agreement on the secretary general, which requires unanimous big five action, has delayed the second meeting of the security council.

Work in the formal UNO sessions was slowed to the subcommittee level while the big powers talked in private. The scheduled assembly meeting was cancelled, an announcement said, because the political and security committee report recommending adoption of the Moscow resolution was not ready.

The big five were understood to be seeking agreement on how far beyond organizational matters the assembly and security council should go during the London meeting.

The American and Russian delegations were known to be in complete agreement that this session should complete organizational work, then adjourn and move further proceedings to the United States.

None of the big five was expected to obstruct security council consideration of the Greek, Indonesian and Iranian "situations." Nor was any of them expected to press for immediate consideration.

priority" to the danger he considered most obvious.

Kaufman said the "purport" of correspondence between Short and Marshall over the year was "preparation for a surprise attack by air."

"I would say in preparation for any kind of an attack," Short said. "He only mentioned an air raid once."

Kaufman asked Short what the conditions were at Oahu when he took command.

"There was still lots to be done to get ready for a surprise attack by air," Short replied.

Short added that "very few" of his requests for additional equipment were granted. He said he got a "considerable increase" in pursuit planes, but he was not given the "priority" he desired on radar sets.

There was not even one stationary radar set in operation by Dec. 7, he added.

YOUTHS ADMIT TAKING HIMROD STATION WAGON

Six boys held at Portsmouth for car theft admitted Wednesday that they took the station wagon belonging to John Himrod, South Pickaway street, police have been informed. They previously had denied taking the Himrod vehicle.

The boys are being held in the county jail awaiting sentence. After confessing taking the station wagon, the boys said the doors were left by the side of a paved highway near Chillicothe. One of them has volunteered aid in locating the doors.

Two of the boys are believed escapees from the West Virginia Boys Industrial School, according to a telegram received from Charleston, W. Va., authorities and the others are known to the juvenile court at the West Virginia capital.

Substitute Fact Finding Bill Expected To Reach House Floor Late Today

boards to subpoena company records, nor provide for a 30-day no-strike "cooling off" period for labor. These were main points in legislation requested by Mr. Truman and are almost certain to be offered on the floor as amendments.

Labor committee members said that if the rules committee permits, several other sweeping amendments and substitute measures may be offered. The rules committee, it was learned, is disposed to permit any amendment to be put before the house when the fact-finding bill comes up.

House Republican whip Leslie C. Arends of Illinois declined to comment on reports that he was among those working on the stronger substitute measure. He said, however, that if he does introduce any bill or amendment, it would seek to compel unions as well as the employers to live up to contracts.

Arends said he would also propose barring labor union contributions to primary as well as general election campaigns.

The bill, even as approved by the committee, is slated for knock-down drag-out opposition. In behalf of the eight committee members who voted against it, Rep. Frank E. Hook, D. Mich., issued a statement which said:

"This bill offers no solution to the grave industrial crisis facing the country."

He said failure of General Motors, for example, to cooperate with a government fact-finding board appointed to handle its dispute "plainly shows that the solution is not a fact-finding board."

TRUMAN GIVES CMH TO BRAVE NAVY CHAPLAIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—President Truman today presents the nation's highest award—the Medal of Honor—to Cmdr. Joseph T. O'Callahan of Worcester, Mass., heroic Navy chaplain formerly assigned to the carrier Franklin.

The President also will award the medal of honor to Lt. Donald A. Gary, of Oakland, Calif., who also was a member of the Franklin's crew when she was heavily damaged by Japanese planes in the inland sea last March 19.

The 40-year-old chaplain already has been cited by the Navy for leaving his customary battle station on the Franklin's bridge following the bombing to organize damage control parties.

During the time that the carrier was burning, O'Callahan administered last rites to dying officers and men with no regard for his own safety. He manned fire hoses, organized fire-fighting and rescue parties. He braved burning live ammunition magazines to wet them down in order to prevent additional explosions and carried wounded men from below decks on his shoulders.

Gary will be awarded the medal of honor for saving "several hundred men" who were trapped below decks by the Japanese attacks. He found an open ventilator and made many trips through smoke and flames to lead the men to safety. All but one of the men were saved by his heroic action.

tion that any prewar commercial rights of Pan American Airways are preserved.

The right to debark and embark passengers at the bases awaits settlement of outstanding Anglo-American differences on international rates, number of flights and the fifth freedom of the air. The fifth freedom is the right to carry traffic between two points outside the home country of the airline.

Authorities said it was agreed that decisions reached on these problems for transatlantic services also would be applied to flights to, from and between the bases.

Any country which has ratified the Chicago agreement granting right of non-traffic stops may use the bases to refuel and make repairs, it was said. Other countries will have to reach separate agreements with both America and Britain.

It is provided that no country shall obtain more favorable rights at the bases than it is willing to grant the U. S. and Britain in its own territory.

All countries, of course, now take the position that only their own airlines may transport customers between points in their own territory. But an exception may be made in regard to traffic between the 99-year lease bases.

It was reported that Britain may permit American carriers to carry American citizens, for example, between Bermuda and British Guiana. The American delegation, it was believed, did not press this latest Britain in turn ask for the right to carry traffic between the west coast and Hawaii.

developed within the Popular Republican party. Right-wing members insisted on a number of conditions as the price of the party's participation in the government. They were said to have won in the intra-party dispute, and eleventh hour haggling again threw the agreement out of balance.

The Popular Republicans were reported demanding that the new government program provide for a two-chamber parliament under the new constitution, recognition of the rights of family and profession—an intended brake on any Communist attempt at all-out nationalization—an agreement on freedom of education, church and schools, and a guarantee of sufficient powers to the executive branch.

One of the chief bones of contention between DeGaulle and the Communists was their determination to limit executive power and place all the real power in the hands of the assembly.

Five NEW UNITS WILL BE BASED AT LOCKBOURNE

Five army air force units making up the 47th composite group (colored) have been transferred to Lockbourne Air Base from Godman Field at Louisville, Lockbourne officials said today.

The units transferred were the 96th fighter squadron, 617th fighter squadron, 602nd engineers squadron, 766th Army Air Forces band, and the 118th base unit. Lockbourne was designated as the group's permanent base.

Lockbourne public relations officials said the phone call from Washington ordering the shift did not include orders on disposition of units now at the base, which for several months has been an all-weather flying laboratory for the Air Technical Service Command, with headquarters at Wright Field.

GEORGE W. DUMM
Despondency because of ill health for the last several months, due to his advanced age caused the suicide by hanging of George W. Dumm, 80, widely known Circleville township farmer who was found dead at his farm home Tuesday at 3 p. m. Dr. Lloyd Jones, county coroner said in his verdict.

His entire life was spent in rural Pickaway county where he was born, the son of Nelson and Julia Anderson Dumm. Survivors include his widow, Minnie Holderman Dumm; two sons, Lawrence Dumm, Frederick, Oklahoma, and Dorwin Dumm of the home; three grandchildren, Robert and Jo Ann Dumm, Circleville, children of a deceased son, Wayne Dumm and Miss Kathleen Dumm, Frederick, Okla., and a brother, Wilson Dumm, East Mound street.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2:30 p. m. at the Deenbaugh funeral home, the Rev. George L. Troutman of Trinity Lutheran church officiating with burial in Hitler-Ludwig cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday afternoon.

MRS. CHARLES BELL

Mrs. Anna Stein Bell, 78, widow of Charles Bell died Tuesday at 3 p. m. in Berger hospital where she had been admitted, Sunday. Complications, after an illness of a year caused death.

She was a native of Circleville, the daughter of John B. and Lydia Morris Stein. Her husband died in 1941.

Survivors are two sons, John A. Bell, Circleville and Ralph R. Bell, Longview, Washington; two sisters, Mrs. Florence Renick and Mrs. Fannie Caldwell, both of Circleville.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2:30 p. m. at the Mader chapel, the Rev. George L. Troutman officiating with burial in Forest cemetery.

The family asks that flowers be omitted.

Friends may call at the Mader chapel. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bell terminated a visit here last week and are now enroute to their home in Longview.

NEWS OF OUR MEN and WOMEN IN UNIFORM

Burwin G. Rowland, seaman, second class, USNR, of route 1, Circleville, is serving on the heavy cruiser, USS Los Angeles, which has arrived at Shanghai, China, from Pearl Harbor, T. H., to become flagship of Task Force 73, the Yangtze River Patrol Force.

Sgt. Robert L. Frazier, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Frazier, of Walnut township, has returned to Indiantown Gap, Pa., after spending a 20-day furlough at his home. He will receive his discharge after receiving medical care.

Sgt. Frazier returned from overseas service in Ireland, England, France, Luxembourg, Belgium and Germany. He has been in service three and one-half years, 30 months of which was spent overseas.

He has been awarded the ETO ribbon with two bronze stars, the American Theater ribbon, the Good Conduct medal, Victory medal, and Presidential Citation Meritorious Service plaque.

Pfc. Dean Hoffman, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hoffman, 159 Town street, was admitted recently to the Army's Deshon General hospital, Butler, Pa., for further treatment of injuries received in Japan on November 26, 1945.

Entering the army on February 17, 1943, Pfc. Hoffman served 19 months overseas in the Asiatic-Pacific Theater of Operations with the 11th Airborne participating in the campaigns of Leyte, Luzon, and the Philippine Islands. He wears the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon and the Philippine Liberation ribbon.

Two more men from this area have been discharged from the armed services. S 1/c Kenneth E. Wolford, USNR, V-6, of route 1, Circleville, was discharged from the Navy at Jacksonville, Fla., and Pfc. Willie Conley, route 1, Orient, was discharged from the Army at Indiantown Gap, Pa.

T/4 Paul McGinnis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul McGinnis, of Kingston, is one of the select few American soldiers now attending the Biarritz American University, the GI college of Biarritz, the famous seaside town in southwestern France.

The college in which T/4 McGinnis is a student is participating in the educational program for servicemen in the European theater. He will remain at the college eight weeks, attending classes three times a day and generally preparing himself for civilian life.

Many of the students at the college are continuing interrupted university work, while others are beginning their higher education for the first time. At Biarritz, with a staff of more than 150 university professors on leave from American schools, they can well undertake such work. The only prerequisite to attend the university is a high school diploma.

The Biarritz center is the only such school in Europe, those at Florence, Italy, and Shrinvenham, England, having been closed. It is part of the program headed by Brigadier General Paul W. Thompson, and is under the command of Brigadier General Samuel L. McCroskey.

Dr. James G. Umstad, dean of the university, on leave from the University of Chicago, said that "in their post-war program, the Army has for the first time in the history of any federal agency, set up academic instruction on the university level" without regard for the direct value of such studies to military objectives.

WIDER CHOICES GIVEN FARMERS

John Boggs Says Different AAA Procedure Will Give Farmers More Leeway

Farmers will have more leeway under the 1946 agricultural conservation program in choosing the practices they want to carry out on their farms, John G. Boggs, chairman of the AAA county committee, said today.

This year, program funds will be allocated to counties as well as to states, and it will be up to farmers and local AAA committeemen to get all the conservation they can for the money they have available.

Mr. Boggs said that $109,368.00 has been allocated to assist Pickaway County farmers to carry out practices under the 1946 ACP program. About $102,221.00 will be expended to assist county farmers under the 1945 program.

Mr. Boggs pointed out that several important changes have been made in the 1946 program. One change is that no farm allowances will be established this year. Another one is that, to earn payments, practices to be completed under the program must have the prior approval of the county committee.

As in other years, AAA committeemen will sit down and help each farmer plan the program for his farm. From a list of practices approved for Pickaway County, the farmer may choose those practices which his farm needs. In approving plans, county committees will give consideration to the needs of all farms in the county, in line with the amount of conservation money allocated to the county.

PRODUCTION OF NEW CHEMICAL TO BE SPEEDED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 — Large scale production will begin soon of a new hormone-like chemical that, among other things, kills weeds, ripens bananas, makes apples cling to trees and may be a boon to hay fever victims.

Agriculture department scientists said the new chemical, known as 2,4-dichlorophenoxyacetic acid, or 2,4-D, for short — had been under experimentation for years but that its full possibilities had been realized only recently.

Here, according to the experts, are some of the things it can do: Kills weeds such as dandelion, thistle, burdock and ragweed without harming ordinary grass. Ragweed is responsible for about 90 per cent of the nation's hay fever. Ripens bananas, apples, pears and other fruits more rapidly than they normally ripen after picking. Rids wheat fields of weeds without harming the grain. The chemical, however, is deadly to cotton, tobacco, vegetables and some other crops.

DEMOBILIZATION COMPLAINTS

By this time the demobilization rush which aroused so much pressure and excitement seems to be dying down, and it is safe to say that thousands of citizens and enlisted men are feeling a little ashamed of the part they played.

It is easy, of course, for civilians to criticize, but it has seemed from more recent explanations that most of the criticisms by service men and civilians were not well justified. It was natural that the large number of men awaiting discharge wanted to get through with the red tape and get home sooner; but the orderly demobilization of such large forces is necessarily a somewhat slower process than the average man, whether civilian or enlisted, is likely to realize. A lack of care would result in a virtual rout, with troublesome complications that would drag on for years.

Doubtless there was some inconsiderate handling, and much that might have been made more tolerable by friendly explanations of the delay, made by officers to the impatient men. And it might have been a calming procedure to make clear that, even with the seemingly slow process, the discharging was actually more effectively under way than original plans had contemplated.

MALE FASHIONS

As war alarms recede, people naturally turn to clothes, and the men's fashion show just held in New York at the Ritz-Carlton and duplicated across the continent gives men a few tips.

One of the first things the prospective well-dressed man learns is that gray and yellow are now supposed to be the prevailing color scheme—"the key combination in men's wear promotion throughout the country."

It is also revealed that "casual wear was heavily accented in the displays"; that "jackets in tweeds and flannels, gabardine slacks and sport shirts of a new tissue-weight worsted predominated"; and that "this display is indicative of the trend toward fashion leadership in New York," which is no secret.

It seems rather odd, however, that this great, rich continent, stuffed with money and with taste just as good as any likely to appear in the metropolises, should continue to let itself be sartorially led around by the nose instead of making its own fashions as it pleases, in the various sections. That would be at least more interesting, and might be more artistic.

Military men have their points, but they don't seem able to run the world much better than the rest of us do.

Another thing needed in this present wave of civilization, or whatever it may be, is a new synonym for "GI."

UP AND DOWN BROADWAY

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—When Moe Jacobs operates a wheel of fortune you can bet that the thing is fixed. Yet the police can't touch him despite the fact that he pays no protection money. He's a master stage property man.

In a carnival midway scene of the musical comedy "Are You With It?" there is a funny bit of business with a wheel that breaks the operator rather than the customer. The unseen performer in that scene is Moe, who stands behind the scenery and, by a series of marks on the canvas in back of the onstage wheel, stops it as ordered by the script.

Active participation such as this in the plot of a show is only one phase of a prop man's business and probably the easiest Moe is regarded as one of the top men in his trade, as evidenced by the fact that he's been making in excess of $10,000 annually for many seasons. The minimum union salary for the position is $121 weekly, but Moe is called in for consultation by producers constantly and his advice costs money.

The prop man has to be a jack-of-all trades and possessed of an inventive mind. He has to know period furniture, legal documents, machinery, art—anything that might become a stage prop. In "Are You With It?" there is a huge dumbbell marked "1,000 pounds." It had to look like it weighed that, yet be light enough for an ordinary person to lift, and it couldn't be made of papier mache, tin or aluminum because after use dents would appear. So it was up to Moe to conceive of having it made from a special plastic which would not dent, and also to know exactly where to go to have it made.

There also is a snakecharmer in the show and Moe had to rig up a realistic prop snake. This he made out of a coil of wire, some green cloth, cotton and buttons and hooked the while thing up with a piece of black fishing line so the girl could make it move without the audience detecting her manipulation of the line.

Moe used black fishing line when he first broke into the business. That was way back when Marguerite Clark was starring in "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." She had to chase a butterfly through a doorway. The prop butterfly was attached to the line which was controlled by an offstage prop man manipulating a fishing pole.

You probably couldn't think of any antique or odd object that Moe couldn't tell you where to buy it. His trade demands that he be something of a shopping genius, that he know the merchandise of the largest department store and of the smallest hole-in-the-wall.

Fake food and drinks onstage are the prop man's worry. Whiskey often is coca-cola watered down to the right color, but Moe has his own concoction made of burnt sugar and water. In one of his shows Moe had to supply a glutinous character with several fried eggs. What the actor ate were crosswise slices of apples with half an apricot dropped into the core center. More practical than real fried eggs.

Vitamin E in Menopause

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE use of a variety of glandular substances known as estrogens for the treatment of the change of life has been helpful to many women. However, according to Doctor Christ J. Christy of Boston, there are certain patients in whom estrogens cannot be employed, particularly those suffering from cancer. Then, too, in patients where there is a history of cancer in the family, some physicians prefer not to use estrogenic substances.

Prolonged use of estrogens, according to Doctor Christy, is unnecessary and may actually be harmful. For this reason, he began treatment with vitamin E of a number of patients who had symptoms due to the change of life. The vitamin E was given over a period of six months in the form of tablets taken by mouth.

Patients Studied
Twenty-five patients were studied who ranged in age from 22 to 55 years. No patient was treated who did not have severe symptoms of circulatory upset. The amount of the preparation given varied with the severity of the symptoms.

It was found that almost all of the patients rapidly responded to the treatment and either had complete relief or generally marked improvement. Hot flashes became less frequent and less severe. Furthermore, excessive sweating also was lessened, and the patients changed for the better in their mood and outlook.

Seven of the patients had complete relief of their symptoms.

while 16 had marked relief. Two did not respond to any great extent. The patients who did not obtain complete relief might have showed greater improvement if the dose of the vitamin E had been increased. No reactions such as headache, sickness to the stomach, vomiting, dizziness, or soreness of the breasts were noted.

In view of the good results obtained with the vitamin E in the treatment of these women, it would appear that it might be beneficial in all cases in which the menopause or change of life seems to produce severe symptoms.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. A. A.: When I have a cold or indigestion my eyes become inflamed. The eyelids and the tissues under the eyes itch and burn. What causes this trouble?

Answer: It is possible that the trouble is due to allergy or over-sensitivity; that is, you may be sensitive to something that you come in contact with, such as dust, and pollen of plants.

An examination by an eye specialist to determine the cause of the trouble would be advisable.

A. D.: I've had a bad breath and a little phlegm in my throat for years. What would you suggest?

Answer: The condition which you describe might be due either to a chronic sinus infection, chronic infection of the throat, or possibly a disorder known as allergic rhinitis.

Careful study by a nose and throat specialist to determine just what disorder is present would be advisable.

THE BIRTHDAY MURDER

By LANGE LEWIS

COPYRIGHT, 1946, BY THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY, DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE

AFTER THE inquest Victoria went to the mortuary at the foot of her own street. Bernice went with her. Albert looked so un-dead in his casket that it was a little horrible. The two women stood looking down at him. There were a great many flowers.

They said nothing until they were in Bernice's large closed car with its gray plush seats. Then Bernice said: "I wonder, would you mind going with me while I shop for the baby's little?"

"Isn't it a little premature?" asked Victoria.

They went to several of the big stores on Wulshire; Bernice cooed softly over fluffy pink bonnets, tiny shirts and gowns. "I LOVE babies," she said.

All through the orgy of soft pinks and blues, of fluffy blankets, of cribs with ducks and bunnies, Victoria thought of Albert in his casket. Bernice bought a woolly white lamb which she carried home with her. Victoria held it on her lap in the car; she was to have dinner with Bernice and Walter.

Dinner was served by candlelight in the large dining room. Walter sat at the head of the table. Bernice at the foot, Victoria halfway between them. Mrs. Buxton served an excellent meal in utter silence.

Bernice looked lovely. She had on a soft blue dinner gown. There was something changed in the relationship between Walter and Bernice. Victoria saw at once. Bernice was submissive, almost adoring, and she laughed immediately and warmly at all Walter's little jokes.

Over dessert Walter waxed a little the loquacious. "Well, it's been a bad time for you, Victoria," he said, "but you'll weather it."

He added, slowly turning the stem of his wineglass: "You career women interest me; you have a sound practicality, an ability to take care of yourself which I must say I admire. Most women are, to some degree, parasites. Not their fault, of course. Legally, they were regarded as chattels in the most civilized countries of the world until very recently." His gaze fell for a moment on Bernice, returned to Victoria. Victoria wondered for the first time if there were a streak of cruelty in Walter.

"I found the loveliest white lamb today, Walter," said Bernice, from the foot of the table.

His eyes went to her fondly and tolerantly. "Did you, my dear? And what did it cost, this wonderful lamb?"

Bernice said: "Eighteen dollars. It's SO sweet!"

Walter looked at Victoria. "Would YOU pay eighteen dollars for a white lamb?" he asked, humorously.

"I have no particular fondness for lambs," said Victoria.

"I don't think you would," said

Walter, still smiling. "But then you earn the money you spend." She waited a decent moment before she looked at Bernice. If Bernice had felt the sting in the words, she didn't show it. She was looking at Walter still with that gentle submissiveness.

The next afternoon when Victoria went out to the mailbox on the left of the adobe gateposts flanking the mouth of the driveway there was only one letter. It was for her. She noticed with idle interest that the name and address had been printed in capitals. The two lines on the heavy gray paper inside were also printed.

IT IS NOT OVER YET. YOU ARE GOING TO SUFFER NOW.

She stared down at the page in her hands. The sunlight twinkled on her platinum wedding band. A bird sang. From somewhere up the street a dog barked.

Victoria put the note carefully into its envelope. She saw from the postmark that it had been mailed late the evening before. Her mind admitted what she had not before admitted to herself. That she had never quite believed in the accident on Hazel's part. That almost from the moment she had looked down and seen Albert lying dead there had been a haunting sense of an evil behind his dying. This vague, half-knowledge had been repressed, held back, and it now burst forth with double force for the withholding.

The ability to destroy—the words were framing neatly and carefully in her mind as though she were speaking them aloud—is as latent in the human soul as the ability to create. To destroy may become a necessity, under certain inner pressures. It doesn't mean insanity, although that's the simplest word for it.

She later regarded it as strange that Sawm's face, the older face which had replaced the thinner, younger one, should have been sharp in her mind when the old gardener called to her: "Mrs. Hime!"

She turned and saw him just the other side of the fence, stooping a little to peer below the intervening black branch of one of the trees before her house. This time he had his hand curled around a rake rather than a spade, but otherwise his appearance was the same as on the morning after Albert's death, when he had so startled her by peering into Albert's room. The old felt hat, dingy with sweat, the faded blue shirt rolled back at the cuffs, the sagging vest, the sagging trousers, and the faded old blue eyes.

"Hello!" she answered. He stepped carefully over the low picket fence, eased himself to her yard with a long step, and came toward her, his feet scuffling through the ivy below the trees with a snake-like sound. "I been thinking I should tell you something," he said.

"What?" she asked.

"Sawn."

"The Authority on Authorities"

BID TO SHOW WEAKNESS

WE THINK of a bid ordinarily as showing a certain amount of a certain kind of strength. But there are spots in which bidding proclaims weakness, whereas a pass might either definitely indicate strength or else at least leave the possibility that there might be a respectable amount of strength in your hand. Among such weakness bids are an original pre-empt of three or more in a suit, jumps of two or more levels in the early bidding and practically any bid when the call reaching you is doubled by either the opponents or your own partner.

West led the club J to the A, the spade Q lead enabled the A to kill the K, the club K brought discard of the heart 4, and a diamond was given up. The last two diamonds being ruffed, South made his contract plus an extra trick.

Then the storm broke. West bawled out East for not taking out the redouble into a sacrifice at 6-Clubs, which could be set only two tricks. According to West's argument, East was so weak that he should not have permitted a double to stay in, especially since East's earlier bid of 5-Clubs had misled West into thinking East had a bit of strength.

East came right back at West and pointed out the truth about his own bid. Calling attention to the fact that he had bid the 5-Clubs only when North had redoubled, 4-Spades double, he insisted that West should have known such a bid meant he could not stand the redouble, as he was utterly unable to do any share of the defense.

Having armed West with information about the pitiful weakness of his own hand, he put West in position to act on his own responsibility later, doubling, passing or bidding with full knowledge that East had a worthless hand with only suit length.

WASHINGTON Report

Columnist Discusses Nuernberg Trials of Nazi War Criminals | No Sensational Disclosures of Trials of Nazi War Criminals | Pre-Attack Parties Probable

By HELEN ESSARY
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON — "Please," writes a correspondent, R. E. Mathers, "please try to get back to your cheerful writing. I notice with dismay that recently you have grown discouraged. Don't become that way permanently. People desperately need cheerful talk."

People do need cheerful talk. I do agree. However, it is difficult to be a cheerleader when, for example, you step out to a dinner party and the first around-the-table question is: "Should we string up the war criminals?"

The question caused a commotion. Most of the talkers said: "Certainly! Boiling in oil is none too good for them." Soon the clamor died. A few calm voices took charge. I repeat some of the theories expressed by the calm voices. They are also my theories. And I hope I shall not be called a traitor for speaking them as follows:

Robert Jackson, relieved from the supreme court of the United States to preside at the Nazi Nuernberg trials, is a deeply sincere man. He is doing his duty to the best of his conscience and mind. But, look at the recent photographs of Justice Jackson. You will see how fearfully troubled he is by his present responsibility. He was untroubled and optimistic when he left for Germany. But not now.

The Justice's duty at Nuernberg is terrifying. The minority dinner table group agreed. And said further that he must know, inside his heart, that it is success or failure that turns the thin line between the traitor and the hero.

The first principle of war is—kill first lest you be killed! The war criminals, as we victors call the enemy in defeated countries, were following this principle. Only we were successful. Had we been pushed to the wall, who knows what we might have done? Certainly the first use of the atom bomb by us did not prove us to be great humanitarians. Rather it proved us desperate to end a war quickly. Perhaps the atom bomb was necessary. I shall not argue that.

A lawyer at the dinner party I am reporting said that from a legal point of view the Nuernberg trials were bad. There was no legal truth in them. The war criminals were not being tried by an unbiased jury. They were being tried by victors, working to put a case before the world, as dispensers of justice.

We, the Allies, were in no position to say who started the war or who was right or wrong. That would have to be decided by an utterly impartial jury of men who had no part in the war. Made up of neutrals, a Swiss, an Eskimo, a Portuguese and so on.

The you-have-no-right-to-execute-the-war-criminals group concluded with this repetition: "How can you ever be sure who starts a war? However, we do not recommend that these people in Japan or Germany, whom we call war criminals, go unpunished. Execute them to some barren island. Extract their fangs. But don't degrade ourselves by taking their lives."

Generals Dwight Eisenhower and Jonathan Wainwright are candidates for membership in the Chevy Chase club.

Prosperity in the capital: Chauffeurs are appearing again behind the wheels of polished limousines. Center pieces of flowers, at a dollar a posy, adorn the simplest luncheons and dinners. And you meet people who say they are living entirely on lucky trading in the stock market.

Advice to the lawmakers returned from their Christmas holiday: "Congress," says S. E. Forman, in The American Democracy, "is the hope of the nation. In its halls have been done the things that have made America the country it is and our political destinies are still in its hands. They must remain in its hands if America is to remain free."

Service Men and Women Honored At U.B. Banquet

Community House Is Scene of 'Welcome Home' Party

First United Brethren Church Community house was a profusion of patriotic colors and American flags, Tuesday night, when the Service Boys and Girls Planning Commission of the church entertained with a "Welcome Home" banquet in honor of all the discharged service men of the church. A chicken dinner was served by the ladies of the church with Mrs. Charles Ater, Mrs. Frank Hawkes and Mrs. C. O. Kerns serving on the committee. The decorations were by Miss Gladys Noggle and Mrs. Carl Wilson.

The program was in charge of the pastor, the Rev. Carl L. Wilson. Group singing opened the activities with Miss Lucille Kirkwood at the piano. The welcome address was offered by the pastor, after which Miss Gladys Noggle, secretary of the Church Commission, read the roll of returned service men and introduced each veteran.

The Circle City Jubilee Singers, consisting of Delanda Smith, soprano; Sam Smith, tenor; Thomas Byrd, baritone and Emmet Dade, bass, offered two selections, "It Is Well With Your Soul" and "The Ten Commandments."

"We're Rejoicing — Greetings" were brought by Mrs. M. C. Kirkwood, Sr., for the mothers; John Kerns for the fathers; Mrs. Clarence Radcliffe for the wives, while Montford Kirkwood, Jr., gave the response for the service men. Clifford Kerns, a service discharged, played a piano solo, "Sentimental Journey." Mrs. Carl L. Wilson gave a humorous reading, "The Matrimonial Storm."

"We're Happy You're Back—Greetings" were extended by Hills Hall for the general Sunday School; by Charles Kirkpatrick, church music director, for the choir; Ray Johnson, president of the Harper Bible Class; and Frank Hawkes, vice-president of the Board of Trustees. Mr. Hawkes remarks were interesting since they contained the information, that soon plans would be in operation for the erection of a new community house as a permanent memorial to all Service Boys and Girls of World War II. He extended an invitation for all to participate by suggesting a name for the new hall.

"A Tiny Rock" and "Traveling Shoes" were the numbers next offered by the Jubilee Singers.

The closing part was a devotional period led by the pastor. The hymn, "Thanks Be To God," written by the Rev. Mr. Wilson for this particular occasion was the opening number after which the Rev. C. W. Speakman offered a prayer of thanksgiving for those service men now returned, a prayer of blessing and comfort to the memory of those who paid the supreme sacrifice and their surviving loved ones and a prayer of blessing upon those service men still away from home. The program closed with the group singing the Doxology and Bless Be The Tie That Binds, after which the pastor pronounced the benediction.

One hundred twenty-five service men, their mothers, fathers, wives, sweethearts and other relatives and friends enjoyed this evening of wholesome fellowship.

DORA C. TAYLOR, C. R. YOUNKIN ARE MARRIED

Miss Dora Catherine Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Taylor, Kingston, became the bride of Clarence Robert Younklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Younklin, of Ashville, on Sunday, January 20, in the Fifth Avenue Church of Christ, Lancaster. The double ring ceremony was performed at 12 o'clock by the Rev. A. C. Young.

The young couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cottrill, of Chillicothe.

The bride wore a gold colored tailored suit with black accessories. Her bouquet was of red roses and white sweet peas.

Mrs. Cottrill was attired in a green suit with which she combined black accessories. Her flowers were yellow roses and sweet peas.

Following the wedding a reception for 70 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents in Kingston. The bride's mother received her daughter's wedding guests in a black dress and wore a corsage of red roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a flowered dress and her corsage was also of red roses.

The table from which the guests were served was centered with a two tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature service man and bride. Mrs. Loring Hill and Mrs. Olive Hoffman, Kingston, and Mrs. Herbert Ater, Lancaster, presided at the table.

The new Mrs. Younklin was graduated from Kingston high school, attended White Cross Hospital School of Nursing and assisted Dr. C. W. Imler, Chillicothe.

Mr. Younklin, an Ashville high school graduate, just returned from two years' service in the European Theater of war.

Following a short wedding trip the new Mr. and Mrs. Younklin will be at home at 739 N. Columbus St., Lancaster.

Initiatory Work Is Conducted At Eastern Star Meet

Initiatory work was exemplified at the meeting of the local chapter Order of Eastern Star when 50 members and guests were present. Mrs. Frank Bowling and Homer Reber as worthy matron and patron respectively were in the chairs.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served from a buffet table centered with a bowl of yellow chrysanthemums and lighted by tall yellow tapers in crystal holders.

The social committee was comprised of Mrs. R. N. Beatty, Mrs. George Forst, Mrs. Guy Campbell, Mrs. Dick Bremer, Mrs. Charles Gray and Mrs. Charles Dresbach.

Mrs. Bowling announced that the February 12 meeting would be a farewell party for Mrs. F. K. Blair, a past matron of the chapter who will leave soon for her new home in Indiana. The program committee for that meeting will be Mrs. E. S. Shane and Mrs. Cecil Noecker.

Fellowship Meets At Dunkle Home

United Brethren Youth Fellowship of Morris Chapel held its January session Tuesday at the home of Miss Helen Dunkle, Pickaway township, with ten members present.

During the business session in charge of Miss Helen Dunkle, president, a letter protesting against beer parlors of Circleville, was written and is being sent the Circleville councilmen.

Miss Marvene Arledge, program chairman, opened the program with group singing of "Tell It To Jesus." Devotions were taken from the 96th Psalm with prayer being offered by Mabel Holbrook. Readings were given by Miss Maxine Poling and Mary Ann Drake. A vocal duet by the Holbrook sisters concluded the program hour.

During the social hour Miss Holbrook was declared winner of the "Advertising Festival" contest. Miss Poling and Miss Holbrook conducted several games and contests for this meeting.

Refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the meeting.

The February session will be held at the church on February 5. This will be the annual Valentine party, each member being asked to bring a ten cent Valentine and invite two guests.

MISS TOOTLE IS RECENT BRIDE OF NED D. ABBOTT

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Roxanna Tootle and Ned D. Abbott of Dayton which took place Saturday January 12 in St. Luke's Methodist church, Covington, Ky. The Rev. John Tilton read the double ring service at 4 p. m.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mert Tootle, New Holland, and Mr. and Mrs. Ned D. Abbott, Findlay, are parents of the bridegroom.

For her wedding, Miss Tootle selected a mist beige dressmaker suit with fuchsia and black accessories and an orchid corsage at the shoulder. Mrs. Allen Tootle, sister-in-law of the bride as matron of honor, wore a French gray suit with green accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Allen Tootle was best man. Following the ceremony a reception for members of the two families was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tootle in New Holland. The bride attended Columbus Art School and Capital University. Mr. Abbott is studying veterinary medicine at Ohio State University. He served with the U. S. Marine Corps in the South Pacific for two and one half years, participating in the battles of Okinawa, Tarawa, Saipan and Guam.

After January 25, the couple will live at 859 Northwest Blvd., Columbus.

Up and Down Broadway

All of a prop man's effects, hundreds of items, are carried in a wheeled box about the size of a wardrobe trunk. It is a combination of a sewing basket, carpenter's shop and medical chest.

A master prop man doesn't have to stay with a show for the length of its run. He can leave after a few weeks or a few months to accept another assignment, while a lesser prop expert takes over the old job.

Last night's Broadway opening was "Nellie Bly," a musical comedy produced by Eddie Cantor and Nat Karson and starring Victor Moore and William Gaxton. It deals fancifully with the exploits of a newspaperwoman named Nellie Bly in going around the world in some 72 days back in 1890-91.

Cantor has his troubles with the show. The original authors, Morrie Ryskind and Sig Herzog, bowed out in that order after disagreements. Edgar MacGregor started as director and Charles Friedman finished. Three dance directors were used. Marilyn Maxwell, a Hollywood pretty, was the head girl right up to last week and then Joy Hodge replaced her. And all these years Cantor has thought being a comic was a tough enough job. Now he knows he's had a soft touch compared to producing.

ASHVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baum and family removed Tuesday to the J. L. Spindler house near the Scioto Grange hall.

The annual homecoming game will be played Friday with Scioto township furnishing the opposition. A reserve game will open the ceremonies at 7:30. Dads of local players will be presented as well as the homecoming queen. Dancing and card playing will round out the evening's entertainment.

Ashville residents will be offered varied entertainment tonight (Wednesday). A senior girls' basketball team will play Circleville at Ashville. A preliminary game will be played between the sophomore and junior boys. The games are being played for the benefit of the "March of Dimes." The annual Lutheran Brotherhood banquet will be served at Lockbourne at 6:30. William Hoare, of Rome, will be the speaker. The page rank will be conferred on a class of candidates at Palmetto Lodge beginning at 7:30.

The village council met Monday evening with Mayor Harry A. Litten presiding. All local officials were present. Ben B. Morrison took the oath of office as village treasurer, accumulated bills were paid, and the budget for 1948 was presented and approved. Charles William Fortner was appointed fire chief to succeed Hoadley Brintlinger whose work keeps him out of Ashville quite a lot during the day. M. C. Scott was re-appointed deputy marshal and superintendent of sewers and Robert Walden was retained as street commissioner and marshal.

The Ashville high double sextette sang at the Walnut township Farmers' Institute Monday and Jack Irwin and Bill Speakman played a saxophone duet. The German band also appeared on the program. Local musicians were directed by Mrs. Melvin Kiger and Fred E. Brobst.

Mrs. William Myers, who has been ill for several days, was removed home Monday from a Columbus hospital where she had been taken a short time before.

Building of homes is expected to contribute more to post-war employment and prosperity than any other single industry.

CHILlicothe IS RANKED SECOND

Cleveland Benedictine High

Tops Ohio Cage Teams; Ashville Listed

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Cleveland Benedictine High, rated at 75.1, was the strongest quintet out of 724 rated high schools playing basketball in Ohio through games of January 15, according to the Coca-Cola-Dunkel ratings, released by the Scholastic Sports Institute.

Following Benedictine among the state-wide leaders were Chillicothe, 71.8; Middletown, 71.2; Northridge of Dayton, 69.6; McKinley, of Canton, 68.2; Troy, 65.2; Columbiana, 64.8; Canton Township, 64.1; Warren, 62.9, and Hamilton Catholic, 62.6, in that order, to round out the ten top teams in the ratings, which are based on cumulative records to date.

In the Southern section Chillicothe headed the list trailed by Middletown, Northridge, Troy and Hamilton Catholic, while in the Northern group Benedictine topped the contingent followed by McKinley, Columbiana, Canton Township and Warren.

Major change among the leaders this week was the spectacular rise of Sandusky, which advanced to 16th position among the state leaders, and 10th among the Northern leaders, by picking up 15.0 points.

Among the southern sectional leaders Ashville rated 12th with a 56.4 rating. Clubs in the section are rated in this order: Chillicothe, Middletown, Dayton Northridge, Troy, Hamilton Catholic, Marietta, Dayton Fairmont, Newark, Eaton, Franklin, Cincinnati Roger Bacon, Ashville, Cincinnati Walnut Hills, New Boston, Cedarville, Seaman, McConnellsville, Columbus West, Worthington, Logan.

'PIGGY' LAMBERT STEPS OUT AS PURDUE COACH

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 23.—Ward "Piggy" Lambert, Purdue University's veteran head basketball coach, relinquished the Boilermaker coach command to assistant Mel Taube today and limited his coaching to baseball.

Lambert, who had led 11 Purdue squads to Big Ten championships since he took over as basketball coach in 1917, announced his resignation yesterday. Taube, recently discharged from the armed forces and one of the few nine letter men in Purdue's history, was promoted to head coach.

"I deeply regret giving up my long association with Purdue basketball," Lambert said, "but after extended service in a strenuous game, I am anxious to be relieved of the nervous strain and mental punishment that, accompanies a head coachship."

He said he would continue as a professor of physical education and head baseball coach.

University spokesmen emphasized that Purdue's unflattering Big Ten record, two victories to four losses, did not bring Lambert's resignation. They said he asked to resign during the war but had been persuaded to continue as cage mentor.

"TREASURE HOUR OF SONG"
"One Night of Love," favorite soprano opera selection, and the baritone piece, "Without a Song," get preferred treatment by Lucia Albanese and Francesco Valentini on "Treasure Hour of Song," Thursday. For more substantial musical fare, the Met diva also sings an aria from Donizetti's comic opera "Don Pasquale," and Valentino offers Denza's "If You Loved Me." Alfredo Antonini conducts the orchestra in "Gypsy Scenes," Chopin's "Minute Waltz," and "On the Trail" from Ferde Grofe's "Grand Canyon Suite."

MUSICAL SNOWBALLS
Amy Arnell sings "Let It Snow," thereby providing Bud Abbott and Lou Costello with material for a snowball fight, in the broadcast Thursday. During another breather between Abbott and Costello lunatics, Bob Matthews sings "I Can't Begin to Tell You," from the motion picture, "The Dolly Sisters," Carl Hoff conducts the orchestra.

DUM DUM DRUMMER
Drummers like average persons start going to school at the age of five or six. However, Buddy Rich was different. He didn't enter a school until he was fourteen. His parents were vaudeville troupers and as he accompanied them on their travels he was taught by private tutors until the family finally settled down in Brooklyn. Buddy, recently discharged from the Marines, now has his own orchestra and will be heard on "Spotlight Bands" Friday night.

ARTISTS TO BE GUESTS
Ted Cott's "So You Think You Know Music" quiz will look more and more like a musical hall of fame as Maggie Teyte, the great English soprano; Josephine Antoline, Metropolitan coloratura; Webster Atken, noted pianist and Carroll Culpepper, young opera tenor, troop up to the microphone Friday for a friendly battle of musical wits.
